

Recruiting Consultant Inc.

With more than 20 years of executive recruiting expertise and over 1,000 placements, Crystal Kennah, founder and executive recruiter for RCI, specializes in direct recruiting for executive-level and specialist roles.

Crystal works with organizations throughout the U.S. that are keeping people on the move: oil and gas and public transportation.

RCI is a women-owned boutique executive search firm dedicated to finding exceptional leaders for organizations on the move.

Crystal began her recruiting career in 1998 in Houston, Texas. There, she developed proactive search strategies and identified and recruited top-tier candidates within the oil, gas, energy, manufacturing and municipal sectors. She became so attuned to the objectives and cultures of her clients that many candidates could not believe she worked as an outside consultant.

Crystal founded RCI in 2005. She has cultivated lifelong relationships with her clients and candidates, and in turn, they engage Crystal as a strategic partner as their organizations and careers have progressed. The deep knowledge she has gained in her practice areas has made her an asset for clients seeking expertise in executive recruiting, workforce design and planning, compensation consulting, industry partnerships and mergers and acquisitions.

A Wyoming native, Kennah holds a B.S. from the University of Wyoming. She has been based in the Denver metro area since 2006.
